

Joe Tucker

A native of Detroit, Michigan, Joe is a New York based performer and educator. He's played interesting music with interesting titles in interesting places with fantastic and interesting people.

Joe is the percussionist for the Brooklyn based Curiosity Cabinet, and is a teaching artist with the Bridge Arts Ensemble. He does other things, and would love to tell you about them either in person or in an email (if you're curious).

Joe has studied with: Judy Moonert, Michael Lipsey, Matthew Ward, David Cossin, and David Colson. He continues to grow by learning from his friends and colleagues.
